

You're invited to a LUNCH & LEARN

Campus Accessibility MAP PROJECT

UT stakeholders have partnered to update the campus accessibility map to reflect the most up-to-date and relevant information. Students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to join the effort to improve the campus accessibility map. To participate, you will need a smartphone and some time to attend a short training to familiarize you with the surveying tools.

The first phase of the project will focus on surveying the approach and entry of campus buildings. Doing so will require visiting buildings on campus and assessing which building entrances are accessible. Approach and entry information will be gathered using Collector, a free app you can download onto your smartphone.
